

Re-Entry Orientation

Presenter: Eero Jesurun APUAF, Bordeaux, March 17, 2017

Re-entry: What is it?

- Reintegration into primary "home" after living abroad
- Deeply personal transition
- Impact on family/ friends at home and host country
- Globalization boosts more stops overseas/living abroad
- Re-entry requires specific intervention strategies

Why is it difficult to return home?

How much did you adapt?

The more adapted you are then the more difficult it can be to re-enter life back in primary "home"

Dimensions of Adaptation

Active

Pessimistic

Passive

How do you think you have changed in two weeks, a summer, a semester?

"France was awesome!" vs. "Being in France was hard work!"

I had a great time and learned a lot, but...

It's all in the eye of the beholder...

Isn't it better to be open to other people's points of view?

But what can we do with these different perspectives?

Start Building a Portfolio

Write down activities you did in France Look back in your Facebook, photos What did you find easy to do in France? What surprised you? What did you think was difficult in France? How do you think differently about language, culture, travel, work?

Preparing "Au revoir"

- Careful of botched departures
- Create a Top 10 "to do" prior to departure Visualization of life back at home
- Thank you activity with host family or local
- Donate student clothes or materials to charity
- Create "time capsule"- List what's unforgettable?
- Hold a whiteboard party

What to do back at US campus?

Some suggestions

- Join international club on campus
- Update your resume
- Participate in Linkedin Groups for program Alumni
- Volunteer at organization with international focus
- Make appointment at career center home campus
- Sign up for a professional organization
- Get certified in French language

The Six-Word Story

- "For Sale: baby shoes, never worn" -Ernest Hemingway Sure on arrival; humble on departure
- Camembert carried me through tough times
- "A" student learns to let go
- German border, Italian family, French kiss
- France: where I really grew up
- Bio major now seeks French degree

Linear journey from culture A to culture B?

Bonne rentrée
