People who are victims of sexist harassment or assault on Paris public transportation services can now file complaints with RATP directly online.

The online reporting device is not intended to replace filing a complaint with law enforcement.

Instead of filing a report in person, victims can now make a report online. The form for harassment or assault on the Metro or RER can be found and the one for incidents on the bus or tram lines can be

RATP - Signalement VSS - Bus / Tram \(typeform.com\)

This includes 'sexist abuse' which according to the form involves "whistling, obscene gestures and/or noises and comments about a person's appearance or clothing, or any sexual or sexist comments or behavior directed at a person which is degrading, offensive or humiliating and which violates that person's dignity."
